

Bus Rapid Transit

On July 14, 2008, UTA opened its first MAX bus rapid transit (BRT) line. The line runs along 3500 South connecting Magna and West Valley City with the 3300 South TRAX Station. BRT, often referred to as light rail with rubber tires, offers limited stops, dedicated lanes, traffic signal priority and a schedule timed to meet TRAX. A dedicated lane for MAX runs along 3500 South between 2700 West and 5600 West. This guideway allows the buses to operate in a separate corridor from regular traffic, further enhancing dependability.

Riding MAX

MAX runs from approximately 5:30 a.m. to 12 a.m. every 15 minutes. Tickets for MAX may be purchased at ticket vending machines located at any BRT station, and passengers may board at any of the unique buses' three doors. Unlike traditional buses, ADA boarding is done at the center door.

Future Projects

Other MAX BRT projects are currently being planned along 5600 West in Salt Lake County and along University Parkway and University Avenue in Utah County.
